DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's request for reconsideration of the finality of the rejection of the last Office action is persuasive and, therefore, the finality of that action is withdrawn.
2. The indicated allowability of claims 10 and 18 is withdrawn in view of the newly discovered reference(s) to U.S. Patent No. 5,598,410 to Stone. Rejections based on the newly cited reference(s) follow.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 5-8, 11-16, 19 and 20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 5,598,410 to Stone.

Referring to claims 5 and 13, Stone discloses in Figure 2 a packet switching controller (PDU processing device 100) for processing an inbound packet (PDU 140), the packet switching controller (PDU processing device 100) comprising:

A first engine (preprocessor 104) for constructing an edit program (directive) for the inbound packet (PDU 140) in response to a disposition decision

Art Unit: 2663

(type of packet) for the inbound packet (PDU 140). Refer to Column 11, lines 1-8 and lines 29-50 and Column 11, line 66 to Column 12, line 8.

A memory (buffer 124) for storing the edit program (directive). Refer to Column 11, lines 8-13 and Column 15, lines 11-24.

A second engine (restructuring device 106) for executing the edit program (directive) to modify the inbound packet (PDU 140) and generate an outbound packet, the second engine (restructuring device 106) including a packet input buffer (memory 122) for receiving and temporarily storing the inbound packet (PDU 140); with the inbound packet (PDU 140) being stored in the packet input buffer (memory 122) until the edit program (directive) has been constructed for the inbound packet (PDU 140). Refer to Column 11, lines 29-50; Column 11, line 66 to Column 12, line 21; and Column 15, lines 11-24.

Referring to claims 6 and 14, Stone discloses in Figure 2 that the edit program (directive) includes a plurality of instructions, and one or more instructions determine a plurality of data bits to be included in the outbound packet. Refer to Column 11, lines 34-41 and Column 15, lines 11-45.

Referring to claims 7 and 15, Stone discloses in Figure 2 that the edit program (directive) includes a plurality of instructions, and one or more instructions are for performing at least one operation selected from the group consisting of record (none), playback (none), copy (Column 11, line 45), delete (Column 11, line 38), insert (Column 11, line 38) and overwrite (Column 11, line 39) operations.

Art Unit: 2663

Referring to claims 8 and 16, Stone discloses in Figure 2 that the edit program (directive) includes a plurality of instructions that are executed serially. Refer to Column 19, lines 14-15.

Referring to claims 11 and 19, Stone discloses in Figure 2 that the second engine (restructuring device 106) includes a playback buffer (buffer 126) for storing data from the inbound packet (PDU 140) and for playing back at least a portion of the stored data. The buffer 26 stores incoming PDU 140's which are then modified by the directive and transmitted out to outbound lines to the communication network. This reads on "playing back" since the same data with a few modifications is received and transmitted out of the system. Refer to Column 10, lines 57-63 and Column 15, lines 11-14.

Referring to claims 12 and 20, Stone discloses in Figure 2 that the second engine (restructuring device 106) includes a packet output buffer (buffer 126), which is used to modify one or more bits of the inbound packet (PDU 140) to generate the outbound packet, and to transmit the outbound packet. The buffer 26 stores incoming PDU 140's which are then modified by the directive and transmitted out to outbound lines to the communication network. Refer to Column 10, lines 57-63 and Column 15, lines 11-14.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments, see page 5, lines 1-18, filed January 24, 2005, with respect to the rejection(s) of claim(s) 1-22 under 35 USC § 102 and 35 USC § 103 have been fully considered and are persuasive. Therefore, the rejection has been withdrawn. However, upon further consideration, a new ground(s) of rejection is made in view of U.S. Patent No. 5,598,410 to Stone.
